OUR IDOL.

We know not the author of the following lines, but they will be appreciated by many of our readers whose homes have been darkened by the shadow of the Death Angel's wing, as he bore from their midst the "idol" of the family circle. Few who have been thus afflicted can gaze upon the picture with tearless eyes:—

"Close the door lightly,
Bridle the breath,
Our little earth-angel
Is talking with death;
Gently he woos her,
She wishes to stay,
His arms are about her—
He bears her away!

"Music comes floating
Down from the dome;
Angels are chanting
The sweet welcome home.
Come, stricken weeper!
Come to the bed,
Gaze on the sleeper—
Our idol is dead!

"Smoothe out the ringlets,
Close the blue eye—
No wonder such beauty
Was claimed in the sky;
Cross the hands gently
O'er the white breast,
So like a wild spirit
Strayed from the blest;
Bear her out softly,
This idol of ours,
Let her grave slumbers
Be 'mid the sweet flowers."

THE NEW NEIGHBOR.

'Have you heard that we are going to have a new neighbor, Phillip?'

'No, I have not, Mrs. Howey; pray, who is it?'

'Indeed I do not know. The person who informed me of the simple fact, could not remember the name—the stranger is a female at any rate.'

'Indeed! I am sorry that you do not know her name. I hope, however, she will reflect credit upon the community.'

'I hope so too.'

This was part of a conversation which took place between Mrs. Howey and Phillip Powers, one evening in the parlor of the former. Phillip, being a handsome young man of large fortune and unblemished character, was a favorite in Mrs. Howey's family, which was composed of three marriageable daughters and two younger ones. Each one of the young ladies endeavored to appear the most attractive in Phillip's eyes, for they were aware that he was worth striving for.—Hence, the young man was always a welcome visitor.

A few evenings after the foregoing conversation had taken place, Philip was again seated in Mrs. Howey's parlor, talking pleasantly with the mother and daughters, when the former suddenly exclaimed:

'Phillip, I have found out who is going to be our new neighbor.'

'Glad to hear it; what is her name?'

'Miss Jennie Powell,' said Mrs. Howey, rather indifferently.

'Who is Miss Powell, pray?'

'Don't be too impatient, Phillip; I'll tell you by-and-by. She is a seamstress, and is going to occupy a room in neighbor Smith's house and take in sewing.'

'Oh my!' chimed in one of the daughters.

'Are you acquainted with her, Mrs. Howey?'

'Not personally; I saw her once—she is really beautiful, but——'

'But—what?' inquired Phillip, growing a little restless.

'You will hear enough about her before she will have been here a month.'

'Does she not sustain a good character?' asked Phillip, getting still more impatient to hear.

Mrs. Howey was silent, but Phillip saw a smile of bitter feeling curling her lip, and he thought she was concealing from him something which she would not dare to disclose. He felt sorry that Miss Powell should not be all his fancy painted her, after hearing that she was a beautiful young lady. He concluded to ask Mrs. Howey's daughters concerning Miss Powell, but their language was obscure and indefinite, and very evasive. He had implicit confidence in that family, and resolved to avoid the society of their expected neighbor.

One day it was heralded throughout the village that Miss Jennie Powell had arrived, and had stopped at Mr. Smith's.—Everybody was on the qui vive to get a glimpse of the fair new-comer. Some said she was a 'cruel coquette,' a 'proud upstart' and as 'saucy as Lucifer wanted her to be,' while the more thoughtful whispered it about that she was 'the beauty of the village.' Phillip passed her occasionally on the street, and saw she was beautiful; but he wanted to get acquainted with her in a private sort of a way, knowing that his motives might be misconstrued. He saw the Howey's did not like her at all, popular opinion generally was against her, and he did not wish to bring down upon himself the indignation of the villages, particularly that of the Howey family; so she stood aloof and watched the current of affairs. Some winked mysteriously, others knowingly, when the name of the new neighbor was mentioned—all feared to speak much against her.

Two months elapsed, and in that time Miss Powell had not made a single acquaintance outside of Mr. Smith's little family. At last Phillip determined at all hazards to seek an introduction in order to discover, if possible, the true character of one whom he had reason to suspect was so foully misrepresented.

They met and became acquainted.—Phillip was surprised—he was astonished to find in Miss Powell so much intelligence, sound sense and genuine modesty. So graceful and so interesting! No wonder that inferior ladies began to look to their laurels when Jennie Powell came among them. She conversed on every subject that presented itself with a readiness and ability which made Phillip feel that he was in the presence of a superior being. He left vastly delighted with his new acquaintance. Soon everybody knew that Phillip Powers had had a chat with the beautiful seamstress.

'What do you think of Miss Powell now?' asked Mrs. Howey, always among the first in such matters.

'Think? why I know she surpasses my expectations at any rate.'

'Why Phillip! In what respect?'

'Wyy in this: She is far superior in beauty, intelligence and piety to any young lady in the village. After hearing the gossip about her, I was led to think some of the intimations concerning her might be true, but I know now she is a model for the imitation of all.'

That was a fell stroke to Mrs. Howey's vanity, and she hung her head in confusion. Summoning courage, however, she ventured to speak with somewhat of an air of complacency.

'Phillip, you know what everybody says must be true.'

'That depends upon what motives induce everybody to say it. In this instance, jealously prompted and vanity uttered it; and if the whole world should repeat the gross aspersions which have been heaped upon her, I for one would not believe them.

The envious know that Miss Powell is their superior and might be able to win for herself the respect and love of all; hence, they sought to injure her in an under-handed sort of a way, not feeling at liberty to express in words what they felt in their hearts; but by knowing looks and cruel intimations, they endeavored to blacken the character of one which I believe to be without a stain.'

This telling language smote the conscience of Mrs. Howey, and after Phillip left, she wept. She did not know Miss Powell, but thought she might be a successful rival of her daughters; in view of which, she tried to create a false impression as to the young lady's worth. She and her daughters had succeeded admirably up to this time, but now they feared all their hopes would vanish and Phillip would be lost to them. He had seen how affairs had been managed by the cunning mother and daughters, and his visits became as angels,' few and far between.'

Before a year had passed by, Miss Powell was loved by all, especially by Phillip Powers.

JUSTINUS.

THE DRUNKARD'S WILL.—I leave to society a ruined character, a wretched example and a memory that will soon rot.

I leave to my parents the rest of their lives, as much sorrow as humanity, in a feeble and decrepid state, can sustain.

I leave to my brothers and sisters as much mortification and injury as I well could bring on them.

I leave to my wife a broken heart, a life of wretchedness and shme, to weep over my premature death.

I give and bequeath to each of my children, poverty, ignorance, a low character, and a remembrance that their father was a monster.

☞ An ignorant fellow who was about to get married, resolved to make himself perfect in the responses of the marriage service; but by mistake he committed the service of baptism, instead of that of the communion, so when the clergyman asked him in the church, "wilt thou have this woman to be your wife?" the bridegroom answered in a very solemn tone:

"I renounce them all."

"The astonished minister said, "I think you are a fool!" to which he replied:

"All this I steadily believe."

☞ During the very warm weather, a party made a sea excursion, and finding the weather delightfully cool and pleasant, one of the ladies remarked to the captain that, while the weather was so hot, she would like to be a captain herself very well. He replied, in a most gentlemanly manner, that he would not object to her becoming captain's mate.

☞ When you have lost money in the streets, every one is ready to help you look for it; but when you have lost your character, every one leaves you to recover it as you can.

Incident at the Five Points.

There is a crowd over at the corner.—By the dim light of the street lamps, and the lesser light of two or thee candles held aloft, the faces of the miserable beings gathered there look very haggard; they are clothed in rags; they are bloated in visage; they come and move around with tottering steps; they seem to talk to each other in drunken maudlin tone; but shrill above the din may be heard the oath and the curse that roll naturally, alike from old and young, in that neighborhood.—There are police uniforms, and the light occasionally flashes from their shields as they bear something heavy between them down the rickerty filthy stairway. Now, as they reach the level of the sidewalk, the crowd seems to gather closer around them, and the light shines brighter upon each face, revealing a deeper shade of haggard awe. Soon we hear a loud-voiced boy cry out, "A dead woman!"

A dead woman! But is that all? Eighteen years ago, she was the pet child of doting parents, who loved and spoiled her. In her childhood, as she passed you in the street, you might have said, "What a pretty little girl!" You might have said it truly, for her features were still regular. We cannot tell the vicissitudes through which the poor thing passed; between that long gone day and the present so sad an end of life. She may have fallen an unwilling victim to the seducer's art; she may have been trained to a life of prostitution—there are young girls trained to such ends all around these Points to-day—taught that it is a life of mirth and ease, and their sensibilities early deadened to its shame. To rescue little girls and boys from so bad an end, is the mission of the House of Industry.

This morning, this that is now "a dead woman" might have been seen staggering along the street; to-day, at noon, she sat on the sidewalk nearly opposite our house, leaning against the fence of the Park.—They saw her try to raise her hand, that trembled like a leaf in the wind, up to her head, and then they saw both head and hand sink trembling down to her drawn-up knee. Soon after, a kind policeman came and aided her to her home—she called it her home in that corner. Once inside the door, she laid herself down along the side of the passage-way and slept.—Boys and girls ran in and out, and men and women went cursing up and down, and still she slept. Many a kick she got from passers by. At length, some woman less brutish than the rest wondered, as she gazed, that the drunken woman slept so long. She tries to wake her, without success. She turns her face up from the floor, then drops it, and runs frighted into the street—it is a dead woman! Lights are soon brought, a policeman comes, a policeman's rap brings his partner, and with him gathers a crowd—fit representatives of pandemonium. They stand and shudder. The policemem soon place what is left of the long since mother's pet in a rough hand-cart, and so she is conveyed to the Dead-House. The crowd stand a moment and gaze, then return to the accustomed channels, and the waves of just such death roll on again.

O ye whom God has surrounded with barriers that protect you from such a fate, rejoice with trembling, and seek to throw a saving influence around some little child that plays unhurt besides the river of death, lest it fall into the rapids and be hurled hopelessly over that fearful Niagara of Intemperance and Vice that left nothing but "a dead woman" of what was once a beautiful flower, and a sweet child of promise.—N. Y. Tribune.

☞ A beautiful but strong custom prevails among the Japanese, by which the bride receives a disguised sermon as a present from her friends. In our land the bride frequently receives presents of jewelry and dress, but in Japan her friends give her on her wedding day a long white veil. This veil is long enough to cover her from head to foot. After the ceremony is over, she carefully lays aside this veil among the things not to be disturbed. This wedding veil is at her death to be her shroud. What would our females think of having their shroud around them to partake in the dancing and other revelries?

FLATTERY.—The difference between praise and flattery is worth attending to. It is the difference between true coin and counterfeit. Praise is the expression of real sentiments; flattery of pretended sentiments. One is the homage of the heart; the other an artifice of the mind. The true and best coins circulate freely in society—and most people are so eager for them, that they do not stop to distinguish the genuine currency from the counterfeit.

PAY THE PRINTER.—
Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
That never to himself hath said:—
My County paper now I'll take,
Both for my own and families sake.
If such there be, let him repent,
And have the "Tribune" to him sent;
And if he'd pass a happy winter,
He in advance should pay the Printer.

Letter of a Dying Wife.

The following most touching fragment of a letter from a dying wife to her husband (says The Nashville Gazette) was found by him, some months after her death, between the leaves of a religious volume which she was very fond of perusing. The letter, which was literally dim with her tear-marks, was written long before her husband was aware that the grasp of fatal disease had fastened upon the lovely form of his wife, who died at the early age of nineteen:

"When this shall reach your eye, dear George, some day when you are turning over the past, I shall have passed away forever, and the cold white stone will be keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have so often pressed, and the sod will be growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has often nestled close to your warm heart. For many long and sleepless nights, when all beside my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with consciousness of approaching death, until at last it has forced itself upon my mind; and although to you and to others it might now seem but the nervous imagining of a girl, yet, dear George, it is so! Many weary nights have passed in the endeavor to reconcile myself to leaving you, whom I loved so well; and this bright world of sunshine and beauty; and hard indeed it is to struggle on silently and alone, with the sure conviction that I am about to leave all forever and go down into the dark valley! 'But I know in whom I have believed,' and leaning on His arm, 'I fear no evil.' Do not blame me for keeping even all this from you. How could I subject you, of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting, when time will soon make it apparent to you! I could have wished to live, if only to be at your side when your time shall come, and pillowing your head on my breast, wipe the death-damps from your brow, and usher your departing spirit into its Maker's presence, embalmed in woman's holiest prayer. But it is not to be, and I submit. Yours is the privilege of watching, through long and dreary nights, for the spirit's final flight, and of transferring my sinking head from your breast to my Saviour's bosom! And you shall share my last thought, and the last faint pressure of the hand, and the last feeble kiss shall be yours, and even when flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eyes shall rest on yours until glazed by death; and our spirits shall hold one last communion until gently fading from my view—the last of earth—you shall mingle with the first bright glimpses of the unfading glories of the better world, where partings are unknown. Well do I know the spot, my dear George, where you will lay me; often we stood by the place, and as we watched the mellow sunset, as it glanced in quivering flashes through the leaves, and burnished the grassy mounds around us with stripes of burnished gold, each, perhaps, has thought that some day one of us would come alone, and whichever it might be, your name would be on the stone. But we loved the spot, and I know you will love it none the less, when you see the same quiet sunlight linger and play among the grass that grows over your Mary's grave. I know you will go there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whisper among the waving branches 'I am not lost, but gone before.'"

CORNERED.—Soon after the Mexican war, an American Captain and an Englishman met in Venice, at dinner.

'You are an American, sir,' said the Englishman.

'I reckon I am,' returned the Captain.

'You have the name of being pretty great warriors.'

'Yes,' said the Captain, 'we shoot pretty well.'

'But how is it you were so anxious to make peace with Mexico? This does not look much like spunk.'

'You are an Englishman? interrogated the Captain.

'Yes,' was the reply.

'Well,' said the Captain, 'I don't know what our folks offered to do with Mexico; but stranger, I'll be darned if we offered to make peace with you.'

This home thrust at the Englishman set the whole house in an uproar of laughter.

THE REASON WHY.—A small lad asked permission of his mother to go to a ball. She told him it was a bad place for little boys. "Why, mother, didn't you and father used to go to balls when you were young?" "Yes, but we have seen the folly of it," answered the mother. "Well, mother," exclaimed the son, "I want to see the folly of it too."

☞ If rich, it is easy to conceal your wealth; but, if poor, it is by no means easy to conceal our poverty. It is less difficult to hide a thousand guineas than one hole in our coat.

☞ A quack doctor on his death bed, willed all his property to a lunatic asylum, giving as a reason for doing so, that he wished his property to return to the liberal class who patronized him.

Councils to the Young.

Never be cast down by trifles. If a spider breaks his web twenty times, twenty times will he mend it. Make up your minds to do a thing, and you will do it. Fear not if trouble comes upon you; keep up your spirits though the day may be a dark one—

"Troubles never last forever,
The darkest day will pass away!"

If the sun is going down, look up to the stars; if the earth is dark, keep your eyes on Heaven. With God's presence and God's promise, a man or child may be cheerful.

"Never despair when fog's in the air,
A sunshiny morning will come without warning."

Mind what you run after! Never be content with a bubble that will burst; or a fire-work that will end in smoke and darkness. But that which you can keep, and which is worth keeping.

"Something sterling that will stay,
When gold and silver fly away!"

Fight hard against a hasty temper.—Anger will come but resist it strongly. A spark will set a house on fire. A fit of passion may give you cause to mourn all the days of your life. Never revenge an injury.

"He that revengeth knows no rest;
The meek possess a peaceful breast."

If you have an enemy, act kindly to him, and make him your friend. You may not win him over at once, but try again. Let one kindness be followed by another till you have encompassed your end. By little and by little great things are completed.

"Water falling day by day,
Wears the hardest rock away."

And so repeated kindness will soften a heart of stone.

Whatsoever you do, do it willingly. A boy that is whipped at school never learns his lessons well. A man that is compelled to work, cares not how badly it is performed. He that pulls off his coat cheerfully, strips up his sleeves in earnest, and sings while he works, is the man for me.

"A cheerful spirit gets on quick;
A grumbler in the mud will stick."

Evil thoughts are worse enemies than lions and tigers, for we can get out of the way of wild beasts—but bad thoughts win their way everywhere. Keep your heads and hearts full of good thoughts that bad thoughts may not find room——

"Be on your guard, and strive and pray,
To drive all evil thoughts away."

☞ The autumn wind sweeps cheerless by, over meadow, wood and wave; while leaflets borne upon the blast, soon spread them to their grave. The tender flowers so rudely kissed, their petals fold in death; no more to cheer with beauty rare, or soft delicious breath. The bud scarce opening to the light—so tender, frail and fair—soon shrinks before the chilling blast, and dies in beauty there.

"Are you a skillful mechanic?"
"Yes, sir."
"What can you make?"
"Oh, almost anything in my line."
"Can you make a devil?"
"Ceatainly—just put up your foot and I will split it in three seconds. I never saw a chap in my life that required less alteration."

☞ A Scotchman who had put up at an inn was asked in the morning how he had slept.

"Troth man," replied Donald, "'nae very weel either, but I was muckle better off than the bugs, for de'il a one o' them closed an e'e the hale nicht."

☞ A beautiful little blue-eyed girl of three years old, was nestled in her mother's arms, at twillight looking out at the stars. "Mother," said she, "it is getting dark." "And what makes it dark?" asked her mother. "Because God shuts his eyes," replied the little one.

☞ It is with the singing of a congregation as with the singing of the wind in the forests, where the notes of the million rustling leaves and boughs striking upon each other, altogether make a harmony, no matter what may be the individual discords.

THE TONNAGE TAX.

Among the many duties and responsibilities devolving upon the Press, none demand a greater share of attention than that which makes it the bounden duty of those controlling this mighty engine for good or evil, to investigate, impartially, all measures proposed, having a bearing upon the interests of the people, and to lay the result of this examination fully and freely before the public, regardless of what may be considered the prevailing sentiments of the day. It is a well known fact, that many questions nearly allied with the public good, the success of which would greatly promote this object, yet bear on their face a color which renders them unpopular at first sight. And here we apprehend the Press in many cases fails to some extent in its noble mission. It hesitates to encounter the popular current, even when this current has been created through a misunderstanding of the nature and bearing of the subject in dispute. For our part we shall not allow such considerations to deter us from boldly uttering our earnest convictions on any and all questions as they arise. Having, as we believe, discovered a matter in which our people are deeply interested—an operation by which, through ignorance of its effects, the people suffer themselves to be plundered annually of a large amount, we shall not hesitate to expose the injustice of the arrangement, even although for a time we should meet with opposition from those we seek to benefit.

Acting upon the ideas here suggested, we have recently bestowed much attention on the Tonnge Tax at present imposed by the State upon the trade seeking an avenue over the Pennsylvania Rail Road. Actuated by the fact that the magnitude of the interests involved rendered this one of the most important questions at present connected with the Administration of our State affairs—and one which it was most desirable should be fully understood by every citizen of Pennsylvania, we beg leave to lay the case before our readers as it presents itself to us. It is well known that the State at present derives an annual revenue of say a quarter of a million of dollars from a tax of three mills per ton per mile, imposed on freight carried over the Pennsylvania Rail Road.—This tax was incorporated with the charter of the said company only as a means of protecting from competition the State improvements, which having since passed into the hands of this same Penn'a Rail Road Co., relieves the State from all solicitude for their protection. Nevertheless, when the repeal of this tax was first suggested, we must confess that it struck us unfavorably. Was our noble old Commonwealth, staggering under a load of $40,000,000 of debt in a condition to liberally forego an annual income of such an amount? If a corporation indebted to the State for her existence, and which freely accepted the terms of the Bond at the date of its organization could be made to yield a revenue of a quarter of a million per annum, enough to pay the interest on one-eighth of our entire State debt, was it good policy to allow them to break the bargain?—These and similar interrogatories arose in our mind, and we doubt not such have also been shared by many of our readers. Under such a state of affairs we approached this question. Our surprise can perhaps be imagined, but we are sure cannot well be described when we found that the Penn'a Rail Road Co., did not in reality, as we had previously supposed, pay this tax at all; no not a cent of it; but on the contrary, that it was merely collected by that company from shippers and consumers residing along their line, in addition to the freight charges made for transportation. Of this fact every shipper who receives a package of goods can readily satisfy himself. His receipt will show plainly so much charge for transportation, and so much additional tax collected by the Penn'a Rail Road Co., for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Thus the Company is merely made a Tax Collector, and has as little to do with paying the tax as the public tax collector has with liquidating the assessment made upon private citizens. Here was a view of the question we were totally unprepared for, and one which put an entirely different face on the whole matter. As long as we believed that we had "stuck" this wealthy corporation to the tune of $250,000 per annum, we were in no special concern about the repeal of the tax. It was a good joke all throughout. We had a very good thing and the temptation was great to hold on to it. But alas! when we discovered that the aforesaid $250,000 was every year quietly drawn from our own pockets, the laugh was decidedly against us, the boot was not only on the other leg, but it pinched our corns unmercifully.

We wish our readers to understand fully, that not one cent of this so called Tonnage Tax is really paid by the Penna. R. R. Co., but that every cent of it is collected from the people residing along the Line of that Road, who are compelled to use it, their only means of inter-communication. Every barrel of flour, every piece of dry goods, every article either to eat or to wear, which has been carried over the road, has paid its full proportion of this Tax, and by that amount has its cost to the consumer been increased. More than this, from the very nature of things, the Local Trade, and the Local Trade alone, has to pay the entire amount of the Tax. The desperate struggle for the through trade, in which the New York, Pennsylvania and Southern Routes are engaged, is familiar to all, in consequence of which the rates from competing points throughout the West, have been reduced to a point barely sufficient to cover the cost of transportation. Out of this trade no Tonnage Tax can be raised. What then is to be done? Simply this remains, to collect from the citizens of Pennsylvania, who use this line, the whole tax which the State of Pennsylvania, has in its wisdom seen fit to impose. This is so palpably the case that we need not waste time in attempting still further to elucidate what is already clear as demonstration can make it.

The question then arises, if the tax has to be collected in Pennsylvania and from Pennsylvanians for the benefit of the whole State of Pennsylvania, why should not all parts of the State contribute to the fund. Where is the justice, not to say constitutionality, of burdening one portion of the State for the benefit of all? Why should the farmers, miners, manufacturers and business men residing along the line of everyother line in the State, be allowed to shipand receive their goods untrammelled by a special tax, while we, citizens of thesame State, as loyal to its institutions and we hope as brave in their defence—the peers and equals of the proudest within her border—why should we be subjected to this unequal and unjust legislation.

Why, we would ask, should the shipper of Cincinnati, of St. Louis, or of Chicago, be at liberty to ship his trade over our own Pennsylvania road, built by Pennsylvania energy and skill and laid with Pennsylvania iron, untaxed, a privilege denied to our own. Why should the inhabitants of the West use our road untaxed while the citizens of Pennsylvania pay tribute. We pause for a reply.

We have already exhausted the space at our disposal, but at an early day we propose to recur to the subject again. Meanwhile we ask our readers to give their attention to the matter, as we have presented it. It is a question deeply affecting the interests of all parties residing on or near the line of the Pennsylvania Rail Road, and should be carefully considered.

Later From Europe.

The steamship Africa arrived at New York on the 2d, with three days later news from Europe. Mr. Whitehouse, the electrician, has again written to the Atlantic Telegraph Company, in which he contends that the defect in the cable is much nearer the shore than has been generally supposed and that it can be made available. It is said that the English Government has resolved to authorize the engagement of laborers for the French Colonies among the Coolies in England. It is proposed to reduce the French army to the extent of 100,000 men. The Spanish Government seems to be waking up. Not only is it resolved to insist upon satisfaction from Mexico, but it has also fitted out a naval expedition against Morocco, which is instructed to scour the coast of Africa, and destroy all vessels manned by the Riff Moors, which may be found without regular papers, and treat them as pirates.—The Russian ambassador at Japan, has succeeded in negotiating an advantageous treaty with that country. The cholera has broken out in that country, and is carrying off a large number of the people. Unfortunately, its first appearance was said to have been shortly after the arrival of an American man-of-war, on board of which a case had occurred, and this circumstance had greatly prejudiced the Japanese against foreigners.

ELECTION IN BERKS.—The election for Member of Congress, in the above county, to fill the unexpired term of Hon. J. Glancy Jones, appointed minister to Austria, came off on Tuesday of last week, and resulted in the election of Gen. Kiem, the People's Anti-Lecompton and Protective Tariff candidate, by a majority of between 400 and 600. Berks is becoming enlightened.

MESS. EDITORS:—The writer of this having received a kind invitation from Gen. B. F. Bell, to dine with him at his house at Bells Mills on Friday last, jumped into the Mail train East on that day, and soon found himself under the General's hospitable roof. Van Tries, Cornet Band, of Hollidaysburg, were the invited guests, (together with several glorious fellows of Antis) and during the afternoon discoursed music most pleasant to the ear. It was the first time the writer ever had the pleasure of hearing them, and most truly it was a pleasure. The band consists of thirteen as fine looking fellows (and withal as clever and jovial set of men) as ever the sun shown upon, and the taste and skill they displayed, in the selection and execution of the pieces played, is most gratifying to any lover of music. Of the dinner—the many good things partaken of by the lucky guests—I can't give a description of, and it would be cruel if I could, to do so, because why tantalize your readers, (and you) by naming the luxuries which we enjoyed, making their teeth water for delecacies they didn't get, so I will simply say, the sumptuous dinner seemed to surpass even what might have been expected to have been provided by Gen. Bell. During the afternoon the writer's was not the only heart that beat more audibly than usual on hearing the touching song of "The Flower of the Prairie" so admirably sung by a fair guest who was there. After a very pleasant half day, winding up by Alex. Vaughn (and who that knows Alex, don't know how he would sing it) singing in his own inimitable style, "Oh, Angeline I love you," the party left for their homes, well satisfied that Bell's Mills is a very pleasant place to go, and that Gen. Bell is a prince of good fellows. K.

State Treasurer.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As a reader of your journal, I was gratified to see you suggest the name of Col. W. M. LLOYD, of this county, for the responsible position of State Treasurer. Col L. is a gentleman of pleasing manners, beloved by all his fellow men who know him, for his wholesouled liberality, and strict regard for honesty and truth. His perfect familiarity with financial matters, and his thorough business qualifications, would render him peculiarly fitted for the post. In these days, when men are not always selected for important positions of this kind on account of their high moral character or private worth, the election of Col. Lloyd, whose integrity and honor no man could doubt, would be most fortunate to the people of the State. Many good men have been named but I hope the Legislature will select the person named above. This part of Pennsylvania, which so nobly sustained the cause of the PEOPLE in the late fight, will have claims for the office of State Treasurer, certainly not surpassed by any other portion of the State. Let our Representatives then urge the name of Mr. Lloyd, and if elected by the Legislature, neither they nor the people of the State will ever have cause to regret it. ALTOONA.

A BOY'S TONGUE FASTENED TO A LAMP POST.—On Saturday a week, a little fellow about eight years old, a son of Mr. Gilleau, bookseller, while playing with some other boys on North street, approached a lamp post and carelessly applied his tongue to its gray-frosted surface, when in an instant, to the boy's own horror and utter astonishment of his playmates, he was held fast by his tongue to the post, suffering very severe pain, and totally unable to help or extricate himself. Of course the boy could not speak, and could only manifest his feelings by signs with his hands. Various applications of warm tea, steam, &c., were made by some neighbors, who heard the unusual noise made by the other boys, and came to learn what was the matter, but of no avail; such was the action of the cold iron that the hold was even getting tighter; when the boy's father heard of the affair, and hastening to his relief, he took a knife and was obliged to cut the tongue loose, leaving its skin still fast to the post, and causing the blood to flow very profusely. Immediately on his release, the poor little fellow became insensible, and was taken home.—London C. W., Press.

CRUEL DEATH.—On Saturday 13th inst., while the steamer Morgan L. Martin was lying at the dock at Oshkosh, Wis., a son of the owner of the steamer, a boy some six or seven years old, was playing about the engine, and finally dropped something between the beams supporting the shaft, and stooped to recover it. The engineer, entirely ignorant of the whereabouts of the boy, started the engine, and the crank revolving, came down and struck the boy on the back of the neck, completely severing the head from the body, without giving a moment's time to call for help. The father, being near, started, caught up the headless body, and the cry of "Oh God!" which escaped the parent's lips, chilled the heart's blood of every one who saw that awful sight and heard that heart-rending invocation.

A TALE OF HORRORS.—The following is from an exchange; Two brothers-in-law, named Hunter and Reed, in Grand Cote Prairie, Randolph county, Illinois, got into an altercation a few days since, while in a room alone. They went at it with knives, and when first discovered one of them was lying dead in a pool of blood on the floor, and the other was sitting near by in intense agony from a terrible gash in the abdomen, from which his entrails protruded.

☞ Immense Sheep Movement.—The Santa Fe (N. M.) Gazette, states that 105,000 sheep are about to be taken from Bernaillo and Valentia counties, in that Territory, overland to California. There is also a drove of 10,000 from Ohio, now at Santa Fe, bound for the same destination.

☞ A bill has passed the House of Representatives of Georgia, by a vote of fifty-six to fifty two, prohibiting the intermarriage of first cousins, under a severe penalty, and cutting off the inheritance of issue. The preamble of the bill asserts that many deformations of mind and body originate from the practice of near kindred intermarrying with each other.

☞ Wild Animals in Virginia.—A letter from Page county, Virginia, in the Alexandria Sentinel, states that wolves are very plentiful in that county, and very destructive to sheep—one gentleman having lost a flock of forty last week by these ravenous animals. A panther measuring six feet from tip to tip was killed last week while springing from the hog pen of W. S. Modisett with a shoat in his mouth.

☞ A Mammoth Establishment.—The Cambria Iron works is stated to be among the largest, if not the largest in the United States. The rolling mill embraces sixty puddling and twelve heating furnaces, fourteen pair rolls and fourteen steam engines, equal to one thousand horse power, and the capacity of one hundred tons per day, or thirty thousand tons of rails per annum, allowing one month in the year for necessary repairs.

☞ Wrong and Right.—

Alas, how easily things go wrong!
A sigh too much, or a kiss too long,
And there follows a mist and a weeping rain,
And life is never the same again.

Alas, how hardly things go right!

For the sigh will come, and the kiss will stay,
And the summer night is a winter day.

TOM HYER CHALLENGED.—A daring Buckeye has addressed to the fighting world, through the columns of the Noble county Democrat, a card, stating that he accepts the challenge of Mr. Thomas Hyer, to fight for ten thousand dollars. Said Buckeye is named Deck; has fought and won one battle; is said by the Ohio editor to be one of the most respectable citizens of that county; has many friends, who will back him, who claim that in point of science he is not inferior to Hyer, and is able to compete with any man in the States in muscular power. His height is rising six feet—straight as an arrow—and weighs when stripped, two hundred and six pounds. The "fancy," especially that portion opposed to Hyer, are circulating this challenge, and doing what they can to bring about the encounter.

VERDICT IN THE KELLY CASE.—The second trial of James M. Kelly, for the murder of Henry Weissman, was brought to a close yesterday, and resulted in the jury finding a verdict of murder in the second degree. Although the prisoner has the doleful prospect of an imprisonment of nine or ten years in the penitentiary, yet in view of the fact that he has escaped capital punishment, the verdict should be gratefully received by him. The evidence did not justify the conclusion that the killing was done in the attempt to commit the felony of rape, and hence a verdict of murder in the first degree could not be rendered—the specific intent to take life not being satisfactorily made out.

ALLEGED MURDERER ARRESTED.—An exchange says. Twelve soldiers deserted from the army in Utah and reached California. Three of them led by a man named Burns, murdered the other nine for the sake of their money.—Burns then proceeded to cut the throats of his two companions. One he killed, the other survived, obtained assistance, and gave evidence which led to the arrest of Burns, who is now in jail at Los Angelos.

PRIZE CORRESPONDENCE.

The affidavit of Mr. WILSON, given below must silence scepticism with regard to the honesty of some lottery proprietors. This gentleman has verified the adage, "better be born lucky than rich."

AUGUSTA, GA., Oct. 4th, 1858.

WM. R. WILSON, Esq., No. 498 Pearl st., N. Y.

DEAR SIR:—Allow us to congratulate you on your good fortune, in drawing the whole of the second capital prize of $22,3000 in our lottery scheme of Sept. 11th last."

As we do not use the names of prize holders without special permission, we have to ask authority to do so in your case.

We more particularly desire your consent at this time, because there has been a recent attempt to injure our firm.

Very respectfully yours,
SAMUEL SWANN & &O.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8th, 1858.

MESSRS. SAMUEL SWANN & Co., AUGUSTA, GA.:

GENTS:—Yours of the 4th inst. is just received. I most cheerfully give you permission to use my name, and hope it may be of advantage to your concern.

I consider I owe you this in consideration of the promptness with which you have paid the prize.

Very truly yours, &c.
WM. R. WILSON,
No. 498 Pearl street.

P. S.—I herewith enclose you my affidavit which you can publish if you think proper.

The undersigned WM. R. WILSON, of 498 Pearl street, in the city of New York, being sworn, deposes and says: That he was the holder of the whole ticket—numbers 19, 44 51—in SAMUEL SWANN & Co's lottery scheme of Sept. 11th, last; and that by reason of the drawing, the same ticket became entitled to the whole of the second capital prize of 22,3000, which prize has been fully and promptly paid by the managers. W. R. WILSON.

Sworn before me, this 8th October, 1858.
AUGUSTUS J BROWNE,
Commissioner of Deeds.

THE SKATING EPIDEMIC.—Young and middle-aged in New York have heard with emotions bordering on ecstacy of the fine skating ground which is to be provided for them on Central Park, the commissioners furnishing the water and zero the freeze. In Boston a plan is afoot to flood the lower portion of Boston Common for the benefit of the skaters and skatresses who were unable to get out to the surpuban ponds last winter. In Buffalo some gentleman residing on Deleware avenue have hired the vacant lots on the corner of Virginia streets, which have an area of fifty-two thousand square feet, which they propose to fence in and floor with ice.

ESCAPE OF A GRIZZLY.—On Saturday, a grizzly bear was brought to Washington in the car of Adam's Express, designed as a present to the Smithsonian Institute. During the night, Bruin gnawed out of his cage, and when the door of the car was opened next morning, he was ready to walk out, and would have done so had it not been rudely slapped in his face.—What was now to be done? Some said give him strychnine; but finally a hole was cut in the roof of the car, and a noose slipped around the beast. After considerable delay and danger, he was again caged. One man received a slap from his paw, which he will long remember. The whole scene was a very lively one.

THE GLOBE—THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF CONGRESS.—I shall publish the Daily Globe, and the Congressional Globe and Appendix during the next session of Congress. The Daily Globe will contain a report of the debates in both branches of Congress as taken down by reporters equal, at least, to any corps of short hand writers in this or any other country. When the debates of a day do not make more than 45 columns, they will appear in the Daily Globe of the next morning, which will contain also, the news of the day, together with such editorial articles as may be suggested by passing events.

The Congressional Globe and Appendix will contain a report of all the debates in Congress, revised by the speakers, the Messages of the President of the United States, the Annual Reports of the Heads of the Executive Departments, the Reports of Committees of Congress on important subjects of general interest, the Laws passed during the session, and other documents to all. They will be printed on a double royal sheet, in book form royal quarto size, each number containing 16 pages averaging 2397 words per page. The whole will make between 1700 and 2000 pages. It is believed that no book has ever been published at so low a rate. Last year I advtised in the Daily Globe, for six months, and in about one hundred other newspapers in the U. S., a reward of $225 to be paid to any person who would produce a book published at so low a rate, and none was produced. The large number of copies subscribed for by Congress enables me to afford the debates to subscribers so cheap.

The Congressional Globe and Appendix pass free through the mails of the United States, as will be seen by reading the following Joint Resolution passed by Congress the 6th of August, 1852:

Joint Resolution providing for the distribution of the laws of Congress and debates therein.

With a view to the cheap circulation of the laws of Congress and the debates contributing to the true interpretation thereof, and to make free the communication between the representative and constituent bodies.

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress, assembled. That from and after the present session of Congress, the Congressional Globe and Appendix, which contain the laws and debates thereon, shall pass free through the mails so long as the same shall be published by order of Congress; Provided, That nothing herein shall be construed to authorize the circulation of the Daily Globe free of postage.

Approved; August 6th, 1852.

TERMS:

| For a copy of the Daily Globe four months, | $3 00 |
| For a copy for a less time (per month) | 1 00 |

Bank notes, current in the section of country where a subscriber resides, will be received at par. The whole or any part of a subscription may be remitted in postage stamps which are preferable to any currency except gold and silver. Where bank notes under $5 cannot be procured, I will send two copies for $5.

A paper will not be sent unless the money accompanies the order for it.

The Congressional Globe and Appendix will be stereotyped, and, therefore, I shall be able to send the back numbers for this session to all who may subscribe after the session commences; but if the first edition shall have been exhausted before the subscription money is received, I shall charge $1 additional per copy, to pay the expense of putting the plates on the press. Subscriptions should reach me as early as the first week of December, to insure complete copies at the prices advertised above.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR
PREPARED BY DR. ASHFORD,
COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

Is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, causing more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus acting on both for the purpose effectually, without any of the painful sensations experienced in the operations of most Cathartics, and strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it, and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the stomach is at fault, the whole system suffers in consequence of non action of the Liver—having caused in the proprietors has made it his study, in a practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many derangements to which it is liable.

To prove that this remedy is all we say in its behalf, we ask the sanction of the afflicted, and conviction is sure to follow.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food a digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are CONFIRMED, and, WHAT IS warning, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the most and prevent the food from rising and souring. Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents Nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels, and cures COSTIVENESS.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia, or DISEASE OF THE STOMACH.

☞ One dose of two teaspoonful will always relieve SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle taken for female obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, while it is a sure cure for CHOLERA MORBUS, and a preventive of CHOLERA.

☞ Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

☞ One bottle taken for JAUNDICE removes all colorness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa, its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures attacks caused by Worms in children: there is no remedy in the world, as it surer, safer, or speedier never fails.

A few bottles cures Dropsy by exciting the absorbents.

We take pleasure in recommending the medicine as a preventive for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Bilious type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

Remarkable Dreams.

"I had a dream, which was not all a dream."—Byron.

"I had a dream the other night,
When all around was still."—Susannah.

The ancients, from the time of Noah, up to our venerable grandfathers and grandmothers, had great faith in the verification of dreams—so much, that to them, a dream was reality itself; or was sure to be, at least. But of late, the world has grown wiser, (in its "own conceit,") and dreams are pronounced merely the result of an excited imagination, occasioned by too great an indulgence in the luxuries of life. Likely this latter view is correct, generally speaking; but we know an "exception to the rule." Who ever knew a printer to have an overloaded stomach? ("I," answers our devil, "didn't I meet my namesake with the pitch-fork, one night, after eating a pound of skipper-cheese?") (True, true, poor imp; but you havn't gone to bed with a full stomach, since.) Who ever knew a printer to have the night-mare? Who ever knew a printer to dream? No one. Yet, we had a dream, the other night, and we believe it will be verified—"Young American" in sentiment, as we are;—in fact, rather than the dream should not "come true," we will consent to be called "Old Fogy" all our life. Now hearken to our dream:—One night last week, while poring over the proof of our last paper, seeking for errors in typography, the dullness of the matter set us to nodding, and soon transported us to the land of sleep. Although we had gone to work supperless, we dreamed; and dreamed a dream of happiness. We thought it was Christmas, 1858. We were sitting in our office, engaged in penning a piteous appeal to our patrons to pay us our just dues, or send us to the County Poor House, we didn't care which, when we heard a tremendous racket out-doors, resembling the patter of many feet. We opened the door to see the cause of the excitement, hoping to find a local item; when in stepped a crowd of human beings, laden with boxes, barrels, bales, baskets, &c., who deposited their loads upon the floor until there was scarcely "room to move about." "What can it mean," thought we; "have our creditors sold us out, and rented our office for a forwarding warehouse!" We were puzzled. Apprehensively, we examined each piece of baggage.—Imagine our astonishment at finding No. 1, addressed "McCrum & Dern," from "somebody;" No. 2, likewise; No. 3, ditto; No. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, &c., &c., &c., all to "McCrum & Dern" from "somebody." We seized the sheep's-foot, and opened a box, and another, and another; they were all filled with eatables, wearables, and one box, (would you believe it,) with gold dollars! We were in extacies—we sat down and took a memorandum of every article, with the giver,—and awoke. We found ourselves, when we woke, with a pencil in our hand and the memoranda lying before us. We published it, merely to satisfy our readers with the result of our dream. Here it is:—

No. 1. A package containing an excellent dress pattern with material for an apron, for Senior's wife, from J. & J. Lowther, who, by the way, have a model store-room, a model stock, and are a model firm.

No. 2. An overcoat for the Junior, from Jacob Rees, the fancy Tailor, up Virginia street.

No. 3. A permit to the firm to take as much medicine as we may require, (may we never use it) "free, gratis for nothing," from Geo. W. Kessler, the accommodating Druggist up street.

No. 4. Revealed a cottage bedstead, for the Junior, finished in the fine style in which our friend, Peter Reed, always does things.

No. 5. A fancy vest for the Junior, made by the fancy tailors in the employ of our esteemed neighbor, Tommy Elway.

No. 6. A barrel of flour for the Senior, from the cheap and superior stock kept by John Boemaker, the Postmaster.

No. 7. A fine overcoat for the Senior, from the extensive and well selected assortment kept by that accommodating Salesman, Harry Tuch.

No. 8. A superb assortment of groceries for the Junior, from the large and unequalled stock of our good natured friend, Joe Hileman.

No. 9. A lot of tinware for the Junior, from the warehouse of our old neighbor, Joe Bush.

No. 10. A pair of pants, to be worn by the Junior or his wife, (we protest against the latter) as the case may be, from the celebrated tailor, Dick Smith.

No. 11. A lot of groceries from John L. Ickes' superb establishment, over on Branch street, for the Senior.

No. 12. A nice stock of dry goods, for the wife of the Junior, from Jon. Conrad, on Branch street, a whole-souled fellow and experienced merchant.

No. 13. A note from that excellent plasterer, Jacob Bierbower, offering to do us a job in his line at any time; but we don't need his services, as we can with truth and appropriateness take up the lines of the poet, and sing,

"No foot of land do we possess,
No cottage in this wilderness."

No. 14. A collection of letters from all the Physicians in town, promising to "doctor" our families without charge, (may we never require their services.)

No. 15. A cart load of lime from the kilns of our friend John M. Campbell; but we have no need of it, unless it should be to whitewash the characters of some of those who have cheated the printer.

No. 16. A box full of the fancy dress goods sold by our enterprising citizen and merchant, Jaggard.

No. 17. A pair of pants for the Junior, (if his wife don't claim them) from the merchant establishment of C. B. Sink.

No. 18. A note from our fearless and energetic Constable, J. K. Ely, offering to haul up delinquents, and make them shell out, without fuss; but we don't accept, for the reason that we think it would require the visit of an old fellow we read of, to bring it out of them.

No. 19. A barrel of flour for the Junior, from the new steam mill, pronounced excellent.

No. 20. A full set of Queensware, for the Junior, from the cheap store of John Loudon.

No. 21. A pair of boots for the Senior, made after the usual extra good style of our jovial friend, John H. Roberts.

No. 22. A hat apiece from the only hat store in the town, Jesse Smith's; and while he keeps as good an assortment as he has at present, we don't need another.

No. 23. A box of delicious raisons from the cheap grocery of John Lehr, on Virginia street.

No. 24. A beautiful bonnet for the Senior's wife, from her friend, Miss Jenitie Scott, the fashionable milliner, on Virginia street.

No. 25. A large ham for the Junior, from the extensive provision and grocery store of Henry Lehr, in Greensburg.

No. 26. A box of excellent segars from our friend, Tommy Heslop, over in East Altoona, who always keeps a good stock.

No. 27. A little the neatest dress coat in the town, made by the gentlemanly and excellent tailor, up on the corner, John Talbott, for the Senior.

No. 28. A can of delicious oysters from our good old German friend, John Nagle, who keeps them always on hand at his saloon.

No. 29. A neat dress for the first accession to the firm, from Mrs. Couch.

No. 30. Another dress coat of the best quality, built in the latest fashion, by John O'Donnel the heavy tailor, around the corner, for the Junior.

No. 31. A beautiful, durable, fashionable and well-made vest for the Senior, from the shop of that excellent tailor, Jacob Snyder.

No. 32. A bonnet for the Junior's wife, from the large and varied assortment kept by Mrs. McMullen & Hollar, up on the "Cheap Corner."

No. 33. A box of segars from the store of A. Roush, above the post-office. He expects a fine supply in a few days.

No. 34. A barrel of flour from the flour, feed and provision store of our young friend, Harry Bell, in East Altoona.

No. 35. A pair of gaiters for the Senior's wife, from Levan Rickards, the industrious shoemaker, next door.

No. 36. A half-dozen chairs from the Cabinet ware-room of Isaac Cromer, accompanied with the hope that he may never have occasion to furnish us with one of Fisk's metallic coffins, for which he is agent.

No. 37. Another package of groceries, accompanied with a fine lot of fresh cranberries, (to eat with the turkey that we hav'nt got) from the new grocery store of Lewis Plack, up at the model corner.

No. 38. A bale of goods from the people's favorite store, A. McCormick's, in Greensburg.

No. 39. A habiliment for the second addition to the firm, from the accommodating salesman, in O'Neal's store.

No. 40. An Opera Hood each for the Editor's wives, from "Fashion Hall," kept by C. J. Mann. They will be worn on every suitable occasion.

No. 41. A can of the splendid Cove Plant Oysters kept by Taylor, with a hunk of venison thrown in. Golly, won't we live.

No. 42. A box of gold dollars, presented by the reliable Banking House of Bell, Johnston, Jack & Co, and carried down by the expert and accommodating clerk of that institution.

There—that's all. No. 42 is too good a joke to believe; but really, the remainder of the dream might be verified—who knows? So be it—and the Senior, Junior, big and little devils cry "Amen."

RULES FOR TRAVELERS.—The following facts are important to travelers, and are not as widely known as could be desired:

It has been legally decided that applicants for tickets on railroads, can be ejected from the cars if they do not offer the exact amount of their fare. Conductors are not bound to make change.

All railroad tickets are good until used, and conditions "good for this day only," or otherwise limiting the time of genuineness, are of no account.

Passengers who loose their tickets can be ejected from the cars, unless they purchase a second one.

Passengers are bound to observe decorum in the cars, and are obliged to comply with all reasonable demands to show tickets. Standing upon the platform, or otherwise violating a rule of the company, renders a person liable to be put from the train.

No person has a right to monopolize more seats than he has paid for, and any article left in a seat, while the owner is temporarily absent, entitles him to the place upon his return.

The above rules are all based upon legal decisions.—Patriot & Union.

WHO WANTS A MAGAZINE.—Those of our readers who desire to subscribe for any of the Magazines mentioned below, will find it a saving in money to subscribe through us, as they will thereby get them much cheaper; and we will take pleasure in ordering the books for them. To any of our advance paying subscribers we will furnish the Atlantic Monthly or Godey's Lady's Book, one year, for $2,00, or Peterson's Magazine, one year, for $1,50. Those who are not subscribers to the Tribune, can receive the books on the above terms, by becoming subscribers, and paying in advance, as it is only to such that we furnish them.

"DOC MASON."—If the writer of the communication over the above signature, on the "Benefits of Education," will give us his real name, we might tell him something that would be of advantage to him in preparing future communications for the press. There is so much discrepancy between the begining and ending of the article referred to, that we are inclined to suspect him guilty of plagiarism; and the portions of the article which we presume are "original," do not display education sufficient to properly estimate its benefits.

IMMERSION.—This impressive ceremony was performed in our town, on Sunday last. The Rev. Mr. Fich, the Baptist minister in charge at this place, baptized two converts in a newly erected pool in the rear of the church. Heretofore the ordinance, on account of the scarcity of water in the neighborhood, had to be performed at Allegheny Furnace, much to the inconvenience of those concerned; but this disadvantage has been overcome by the construction of the pool above mentioned.

A MEDICAL EXAMINATION.—Often when a physician is called in to examine a patient's condition, he finds that the lungs are half gone, or that destructive lesions have occurred, so as to render a cure, in many cases, impossible. The patient will find that the little cough which he thought had merely annoyed him betimes, has laid waste a large portion of an organ, whose functions are necessary to human life; we mean the lungs. If the incipient cough is heeded, and a timely resort is had to medicine, such as DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP, a real scientific compound, prepared by a careful physician, known to most of our readers, the cough will never end in an inflammatory condition of the lungs and bronchia; but obstruction will be removed; free breathing, health, in the place of disease, and consumption for want of a nidus, will never take hold of the constitution. Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona.

PROTRACTED MEETING.—A protracted meeting of a very interesting and solemn character, is in progress in the Lutheran Church in this place. Rev. Lloyd Knight, of Hollidaysburg, has been assisting the Pastor, Rev. J. Steck, most of the time, and will remain during this week, as will also Rev. Aughe, of Williamsburg, who came to their assistance on Tuesday evening. It is designed to continue the meeting for some time. Rev. D. Steck, of Lancaster city, who is a very eloquent and able preacher, will preach on next Monday evening, the 13th, and will in all probability continue to do so every evening of the week.

JUST RETURNED.—J. B. Hileman has just returned from the East with his second supply of Fall and Winter goods, a sight of which will astonish his customers. There can be no better evidence that Joe sells at low prices and keep good goods, than the fact he has already put out the large stock he brought up a month or two ago. Look out, gents, for the fancy shawls, he has some good ones and you must be sharp if you get a chance at them. Step in ladies and see what he has for you, and be waited upon by a couple of the cleverest "Joe" clerks in christendom.

THE COMING HOLIDAYS.—The Christmas Holidays are rapidly approaching. The great social and religious festival will take place in less than three weeks. Already our store-keepers are making preparations, and Fettinger of the Literary Emporium has informed us that he will leave on Monday next, to lay in a stock which he says cannot be excelled out side of the cities. He will have everything that can be thought of and much that you can not think of unless you go and see. Look out for Fet's return.

GONE.—Our young friend, H. L. Delo, formerly Weigh-master at this station, left this place on Monday morning last, to take charge of the stock scales at Pittsburgh His departure will be regretted by many with whom he was associated, as he was always on hand when a good or benevolent project was to be carried through. His place at this station has been assigned to Gen. Potts, of Hollidaysburg.

☞ Henry S. Wharton, Esq., has been appointed ticket and freight agent at Huntingdon, in room of T. K. Simonton, resigned. Mr. Simonton took charge of the Exchange Hotel, in that place, on the first inst. Mr. S. is a clever fellow and we hope he may have plenty of custom. We advise those of our citizens who visit the "ancient village," to give him a call and we will warrant they will be well treated.

ODD FELLOWS' SUPPER.—The Odd Fellows of this place intend serving up a supper on Christmas eve, in the "Keystone Hall," over Lowther & Plack's store. It will no doubt be a grand affair. We shall notice it again.

THE PANIC—MORE FAILURES.—The panic in New York seems to be on the increase. In this city everything goes on smoothly, and the only failures we have heard of were the failures to furnish good fits made by some inferior clothing establishments. There is no such difficulty to be encountered by those who patronize the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, above sixth. Gentlemen and Youths never fail to procure capital fits at this popular establishment.

☞ See advertisement of Dr. Sandford's LIVER INVIGORATOR in another column.

THE HALL OF FASHION is still open, and the Proprietor, in returning thanks to his numerous customers for their liberal patronage bestowed on him since his commencement, here desires to say (without fear of contradiction) that he is prepared to offer for their inspection the best assortment of handsome DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, CLOAKS, WHITE GOODS, &c., &c., that can be found in Altoona.

Respectfully, &c., C. J. MANN.

WHAT REJOICING! "CONFIDENCE RESTORED!"—Every body has money to spend, and so they should have. This fact you can have demonstrated, by taking a stroll along Virginia street, in seeing the crowds of Ladies and Gentlemen wending their way after those handsome and remarkably cheap GOODS at

C. J. MANN'S.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.—While the President, in his Message, rather advises a specific duty on Foreign Goods whenever practicable, CHARLEY MANN advocates only a small advalorum duty on all Goods, both Foreign and Domestic, he offers for sale.

CRANBERRIES AND MINCE MEAT, prime articles, just received at

C. J. MANN'S.

TO BECOME HANDSOME.—In Cincinnati, the other day, a woman named Madame Bertha Van Griefechinn was arrested for false pretences.—The complainant was a domestic named Barbara Hammond. It appears that Madame advertised for sale, at $2, a recipe, which if faithfully followed up, would make the homeliest the handsomest. The recipe runs as follows: "Take a half gill of hyena's blood, the yolk of two ostrich eggs, an ounce of gold dust, and a pearl as big as your thumb nail, dissolve in vinegar. Mix into a paste and spread upon the face every night before going to sleep. The effect will be astonishing."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Biles, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its opposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

DIED.

On Sabbath, the 28th ult., of Congestive Scarlet Fever, Miss MARY CATHARINE IRWIN, in the 20th year of her age.

The subject of the above notice was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church, and died in the triumphs of the Christian faith. Her sickness was brief, but the attack of the most violent kind. She bore her sufferings with entire submission; and her death was calm and peaceful. Her career on earth was short, but long enough, as we hope, to have secured "the pearl of great price." Her life and christian profession was an example to her acquaintances and companions; and her death a warning; saying unto them, "Be ye also ready." A.

MORE THAN 500,000 BOTTLES

SOLD IN THE

NEW ENGLAND STATES

IN ONE YEAR.

The Restorative of Prof. O. J. Wood for Restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival, volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

☞ The Hair.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronise them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request, that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Phila.

Coshocton, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1858.

O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some State in the West, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being fully convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell. Yours truly,

S. T. STOCKMAN.

Wayland, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely In the operation I have used nearly three bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

FEVER AND AGUE,

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

HAMMONTON LANDS, NEW ENGLAND SETTLEMENT. RARE OPPORTUNITY.

To all wanting Farms in a healthy place, twenty-four miles from Philadelphia on the line of the Atlantic railroad, New Jersey. An old estate has recently been opened for sale, and the first division of 10,000 acres divided up into farms of twenty acres and upwards. The soil is of the best quality for the production of fruits, grains, &c. The price is $15 to $20 per acre, payable in easy quarter yearly instalments, within a term of four years, with interest. The terms are made easy, in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land, by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm. It is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best citizens from New England and the Middle States are erecting large improvements. It is a scene of the greatest improvement out of Philadelphia. Seventy-five houses have been built in four months. Practical farmers and business men from the length and breadth of the Union are settling there. It is an important business place, on account of its being in the midst of a great market. Every article raised upon this land finds an immediate sale. The water is excellent, and no such thing as fever is known.

The soil is a sandy or clay loam, with a clay bottom and retentive of manure. It is free of stones and easily worked. It abounds largely in the phosphates, and such is its fertility that fresh crops produced both upon this land and the large area adjoining under cultivation, it will be found not to be excelled anywhere in the production of crops most adapted to its market.

The reader may be well aware that the earliest and the best fruits and vegetables come from New Jersey, which are annually exported to the amount of millions of dollars. The land, besides being accessible in every way for settlers, has an abundant supply of the best quality of muck manure.

Lumber and building materials can be had on the spot at a cheap price, from the mills. Other mills are now being opened, and brickyards being started on the ground. A person can put up a frame tenement for present convenience for one hundred dollars. On account of the extensive emigration, this is the best course to pursue in order to get a place to live in at first. Carpenters and builders are on hand to put up houses on the best terms.

In settling here the emigrant has many advantages. He is within a few hours' ride of the great cities of the Middle States and New England; he is near his old friends and associations; he is in a settled country, where every improvement and comfort of civilization is at hand; he is in a healthy place, and is not subject to the certainty of losing the greater part of his family and his own health by those malignant fevers which make the graves of so many millions of the young and and hardy in the far off regions away from home and friends. Besides, he has a mild climate and an open winter.

There are three trains daily to Philadelphia, and to all those who improve the railroad company gives a free ticket.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation; they will meet persons, no doubt, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements, and can judge of the character of the population. Persons should come prepared to purchase, as many are locating, and locations are not held on refusal.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly Literary and Agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton will be sent to each enquirer, and can be obtained at 25 cts per annum.

Title indisputable. Warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance, when purchase money is paid. Route to the land:—Leave Walnut street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton, by railroad, at 7½ A. M., and 5½ P. M.; when there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences will be found. Letters and applications can be addressed to S. R. COUGHLIN, 202 South FIFTH street, below Walnut, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

POSITIVE INFORMATION!—THE undersigned having perfected their Spring Stock, now offer to the public the LARGEST LOT OF GROCERIES ever presented in the town of Altoona.

Our object in publishing this card is to present the following facts:

1st. The recent hard times have very much reduced the price of Groceries in the city, especially to cash buyers.

2d. We bought these Groceries in large lots, many of them from first hands.

3d. We bought them entirely for cash.

4th. We sell for ready pay.

5th. We keep our stock full by weekly receipts.

6th. We are determined to keep up the credit of our house.

7th. We sell more GROCERIES than any other store in Blair county, at less per cent.

8th. We sell cheaper than any other store in the county. A continuation of patronage is respectfully solicited.

Altoona, June 10, 1858. RICHARD McLAIN.

MOUNTAIN RESTAURANT AND LAGER BEER SALOON.—The proprietor of this favorite Saloon,

Under the Masonic Temple,

would respectfully announce that he keeps constantly on hand an excellent article of LAGER BEER, manufactured at the Altoona Brewery, which is pronounced the best in the country. Also, Cakes, Cheese, Sardines, Pretzels, &c.

He has recently fitted up his Saloon in a style unequalled in the country, having placed in it for the accommodation and amusement of those who may wish to engage in these games.

A BILLIARD TABLE AND TWO BAGATELLE BOARDS,

He will spare no pains to render every attention to his customers which they require, and he hopes thereby to merit and receive a liberal share of patronage.

BY ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—Did you hear the news from Europe? If you have not, we will tell you what it is. It is that HENRY TUCK has just returned from the Eastern cities with a large supply of consisting of all styles and qualities of Overcoats, Dress Coats, Vests, Pants, Boots and Shoes, and everything kept in an establishment of the kind, all of which he offers at unprecedentedly low prices for cash. Having purchased his stock at cash prices, he is thereby enabled to sell very low.

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

He invites all those in want of anything in his line to give him a call, feeling sure that he will be able to give satisfaction. HENRY TUCK.

SUFFERING HUMANITY, READ THIS.—The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DU VALL'S GALVANIC OIL in relieving suffering humanity.

I was an observer of its effects on a friend of mine, who suffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the patient was asleep, and when awakened was free from pain and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. A case of Felon was cured in nearly the same length of time. J. H. HAHN,

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public a NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE IMPORTANT TO TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, the great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will bear testimony—in Easitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

Are designed to counteract theese baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches of Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all orders should be addressed.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT!—McCORMICK'S NEW GOODS HAVE ARRIVED AND ARE NOW BEING OPENED FOR INSPECTION AND SALE.

"Halloo, neighbor, I'm here on the ground again. Perhaps you recollect when I, last year, asked you to hold my horse a moment and tell me where the CHEAP STORE was. But it is different now. It reminds me a little of the campaign of 1840, when Gen. Harrison was elected President. You have only to go with the crowd and you will have no difficulty in finding McCORMICK'S STORE. From the excitement down the valley, and the quantity of goods I see carried away, they must be selling off very rapidly and very cheap."
